

The Yellow Brick Road

---

May 6, 2022
The American Mid-West

We're off to see the Wizard!

Bear and I are driving from Millarville to Kansas City, starting Friday. Grab your red shoes and your favorite straw, tin, or carnivorous companion and come along for the ride.

We will be taking bi-ways and back roads through Montana, Wyoming, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, and Iowa. I have no idea what we will encounter along the way - cows and corn fields no doubt, but perhaps some munchkins, a flying monkey or two - maybe even a wizard.

We hope not to travel by tornado. If the wind is calm, we will take the F-150. Bear does a lot of the driving, so we will all be safe.

You can ride shotgun and watch for witches.

We have asked our friend Trish if Toto (a.k.a. Presley) can come with us. If we encounter The Wicked Witch of the West, we will rely on this ferocious beast for protection.

If you can't make the trip in person, you can follow along on the WellWater website, or on Facebook. I will drop notes along the way.

If you want to catch up with us later, point your broomstick south, and follow...

... The Yellow Brick Road