

No... It's Iowa.

Dyersville, Iowa

They built it, and we came.

You don't have to be a baseball fan to make the pilgrimage to this cornfield in Iowa. It is about baseball, but it is also about hopes, and dreams, and the fear of growing old without achieving something.

Shoeless Joe Jackson and the Chicago "Black" Sox emerge from the corn.

The crop had just been planted when we visited The Field of Dreams site near Dyersville, Iowa, so we had to employ our imagination to achieve the full effect, which is what this place is about anyway.

"Shoeless" Joe Jackson:

"Is this Heaven?"

Ray Kinsella:

"No... it's Iowa".
